Extension Special Emphasis

• Can be extended to 2021
• Watch balances, consider extensions
• Does this belong in capacity or do you try something else?
• Does it make sense to apply for an expansion in 2018?
THANK YOU

Extension Thoughts for 2018

If we have the same number of special emphasis awards this cycle as we did last cycle and the budget is the same as the last cycle each school could get up to $81,416 in Extension Capacity

If the budget is the same and we cut the number of special emphasis by half we could provide each school up to $108,0345 in Extension Capacity

Any increase in available funding will allow us to increase Extension Capacity award amounts and fund additional Special Emphasis projects

Extension Capacity is for four years and Special Emphasis is for two.
Research Thoughts for 2018

The California Department of Public Health defines formative research as:

“....the basis for developing effective strategies, including communication channels, for influencing behavior change. It helps researchers identify and understand the characteristics-interests, behaviors and needs-of target populations that influence their decisions and actions.”

Formative Research Option $60,000

Research

Extension

Extension budgets are tiny: Help them find out who is most open to their outreach. Find out what messages resonate with the target group.

The data from the research project lets you develop targeted extension outreach. Feedback for research: did the targeting effort strengthen your extension program?
Research Thoughts for 2018

Formative Research Option $60,000

Question: If we want teens to practice ATV safety. Who should we target? Parents, teens, teachers, coaches or someone else? What should we say to motivate the target group?

Research: Conduct talking circles at high schools, seniors centers and other community groups. Follow up with a widespread questionnaire to verify what’s learned during discussions.

Research shows that older siblings feel responsible for teaching younger teens ATV safety. Grandparents are the most concerned about ATV accidents. An intergenerational project targeting seniors and older teens as partners in ATV safety reaches 500 citizens. Data is collected to assess project effectiveness.

Data informs outreach

Project Tests Research Findings
Research Thoughts for 2018

Formative Research Option $60,000

• Program recruitment (students and STEM?)
• Improving program messages
• Designing Special Emphasis projects
• Foundation for a bigger research project
• Addressing a public health concern on the reservation (SAMSA or Rural Health and Safety Grant)
